Check out this screen grab from the BK commercial I was hired to write, produce, and star in! Breakfast in bed has never been this tasty!

Now that's some serious love-bacon'...

Mmmm... I love  Breakfast in Bed...

Pizza and Beer Flicks' Writer/Producer/Actress Carolyn Morse hired by Comedy Central and BK to create an interactive choose-your-own adventure video for BK's new breakfast menu.

In this futuristic game, life-sized breakfast foods and a sexy cat-burglar fight over a mysterious device to try and get the coveted prize: the ultimate breakfast from Burger King, which has been frozen in time.

The player controls the fate of BK food, as he chooses the path for the characters to take. With wacky scenes, from a mutating fried egg, to a full out battle scene with larger-than-life utensils, and even some sizzling love-bacon, this campy video has something for everyone.

This fast-paced game with multiple outcomes will keep players coming back for more.

Watch out for more details coming soon!

Pizza and Beer Flicks, Inc. is an award-winning production company that's just under 2 years old. Co-founders Carolyn Morse and Alex Warth have watched their shorts air on Comedy Central, been invited to present at independent screenings in Los Angeles, and placed in the top 3 for a nationwide contest for the #1 cell phone and plan provider on the net, Wirefly. Not bad for a toddler.
